Review for Wine Tasting Only:

Amazing views. Lets get that out of the way.

This tasting was slightly more stiff than others, although our guide was very friendly. (Not a complaint, more observation). The tasting was quite interactive, with our guide showing us actual soil used for different grapes, and how those flavors translate into their wine. Our guide was one of the winemakers, and he was of course, extremely knowledgeable. We chilled out on their beautiful deck for about 20 minutes taking in the view.

Wines were good. If you have a passport, its a must see. If you are driving through and haven't seen the hills, Its a must see. Wines were good, but for me, not worth the asking price.

This is a must for wine tasting. This estate sits atop a hill with sprawling views for miles. We came on a rainy day but the views were still gorgeous, I can only imagine a clear day. After tasting, in keeper Nicolette was nice enough to give us a peek at one of the rooms available. We will definitely be back and would love to stay the night.

As part of the McMinnville AVA Passport weekend we stopped by here. This was our first visit here, although, we had previously purchased their wine.

We were greeted by a very pleasant female employee who inquired if we were checking in or tasting wine. We replied tasting wine and she led us into the tasty room.

We met with a gentleman who I later found out is the assistant wine maker, named Jesse. He definitely did not have the gift of a salesperson. He poured the wine told us the name and then fell silent. He did the same to the other couple that was there.

I asked so, do you have lodging here? Yes, it's a bed and breakfast. Ok. Then I noticed that they were voted a 91 in Wine Spectator, so I tried again. I see you got a 91 for your wine in Wine Spectator. Yeah, we don't chase after that, but if it happens then it's good. Ok.

I gave up after that. I've never had to work so hard while drinking wine. I found it mentally exhausting. The YS liked the $60 pinot so we bought a bottle and asked if we could enjoy it on the porch, which he said was fine. We ate our lunch outside and enjoyed the view.

They have rooms up there for rent for $220 and up a night and they do host weddings. Looks like it would be a good venue.

I liked the wine but the unpleasantness of the overall experience put me off.

There are so many amazing things that can be said about this place. From the reservation experience to checking out, this was top quality every step of the way! Check out the views in these photos and then call Wayne and tell him to keep the light on for you And if Aspen is handing out fresh cut lavender and rosemary satchels at breakfast, try to get the one with the purple rubber band!

You can't beat the views and the friendly service (from making the reservation to checking out) they make the Inn worth staying at. But I'm afraid I have to be straight up. The inn is very worn (dated/tired furniture carpets and bathrooms). The place needs a face lift. From the other BrB's we've stayed at the food is just ok. They have the best location we've ever been to, they just need to update and refresh the rooms and common areas.

I rate this vineyard 3 stars for the overall experience. I found the guy in the wine room who was one of the wine makers to be a bit pretentious; definitely not warm and fuzzy. The tasting room is lovely; the scenery is amazing. I'd go again just to be able to view the scenery for sure. The wine we tasted was good but expensive. Plus all the other vineyards we visited did not charge us for the tasting fee when we bought bottles; these guys did which is something to consider when hitting vineyards. It is a nice vineyard but not the best as far as the overall experience.

We went to a wedding here and I can't imagine a better venue for such a special occasion. The view is breathtaking from almost all angles of the wedding grounds. The staff was prompt, nice and hard working.

The inn itself is very comfortable and charming. My only criticism is, if I was forced to make one, is that the breakfast at the inn was tasty but somewhat meager. But perhaps that is normal in a bed breakfast style environment since they have to serve so many people at one time.

Smashing success for our wedding ceremony at Youngberg. We got married Sept 20, 2013. The rooms, service, and wine all made for a wonderful experience for our party of 80. Nicolette and Wayne were professional, clear communicators, and personable throughout the entire process.

Jean, from Willaby's, the caterer recommended by Youngberg, coordinated all the vendors the day of the wedding. The weather transitioned from summer to winter that day. Jean talked me through the options and recognized our priorities then made exactly the right decisions for us.

We had a burst of rain an hour before the wedding. The chairs were moved under the tent and wiped dry. Rain stopped a few minutes before the wedding started. Because we had a strong preference to have the ceremony outside on the patio, Jean shuffled the guests outside. The guests stood. We exchanged vows. Everyone went back under the tent. It was perfect execution.

The diffused light from the overcast sky and gloss from the rain gave us an incredible backdrop for the ceremony. After dark, the fog and rain drops lit by the photographer's strobe light made photo magic. The samples he showed us on the camera LCD were incredible. Can't wait to see the finished results.

The heated tent kept everyone warm and cozy during the spells of rain. The DJ commented that he'd been at another event with a tent that wasn't nearly as nice. At that event, people were not happy. He was very impressed with the YH tent.

YH closes at 10pm. Those that lingered came inside the inn with the wedding party. We sat in the Inn drinking wine and sharing stories late into the night. Fresh coffee was waiting for us when we woke in the morning.

From the signing of the contract in Sept 2012 to Wayne parking my bride's car so her makeup wouldn't get rained on the day of the wedding to the inn keeper bringing me the veil I left behind in our suite the day after the wedding, it was all a great experience. I strongly recommend YH.

We visited this vineyard to picnic and enjoy our day for the 1st time here. The tasting room looked very inviting, well-laid out, and elegant yet relaxed. The assistant winemaker poured our wines and he was very friendly and informative. We used our OR Wine Passport for the tasting and wine bottle purchase and he honored it with no questions asked. We had brought a few fruits and cheese and he was very friendly about letting us picnic on the porch during our tastings. The view was breathtaking, the wines really good (we especially loved the Pinot Gris and the Pinot Noir cuvee), we learned so much from the assistant winemaker, had such a wonderful experience, and will definitely come back.

My wife and I were married in July 2012 here and could not have found a better venue and team to work with in planning our special day. Nicolette and her husband, Wayne, were very nice, responsive during the planning process, and made sure all of the details were looked after so we didn't have to sweat the small stuff.

From the first tour through the big day, we were very happy with our decision to wed here. The view is breathtaking, the facilities are top-notch, the wine is outstanding, the staff is hard working and truly friendly, and the list goes on and on.

The rooms at the Inn are very nice and gave our wedding party (we did a night wedding, thus renting the entire Inn as well) plenty of space and an amazing night at a B&B.

Wayne is fairly strict on the music volume level, but was more than willing to help us use his decibel meter to find the max so we didn't go over it. The 10:00 pm end time was no bother to us, our group had no issues taking taxis back to town to keep the party going if they wanted to.

The morning after we enjoyed a great breakfast with, again, great service by the Inn's staff. We had ample time to pack up and get our selves together before check out. Plus, we left our cake topper at the Inn and Wayne kindly mailed it to our house, talk about care and consideration!

Bottom line: we would absolutely pick Youngberg Hill if we did it all over again. Not only that, but we plan on returning for future anniversaries. You can't go wrong here.

Beautiful view, friendly staff, and good wine made for the best wine tasting on our McMinnville adventure.

We arrived early to the vineyard. I am fairly sure that we were the first to arrive after the tasting room opened. The B&B guests were all hanging out (after breakfast?).

Even though we were a little early, we were promptly and politely served a full tasting flight on a gorgeous patio with the an equally gorgeous view. The gentleman serving us spent plenty of time outlining each wine, explaining about the wine making process, soil, and the flavor profile. It was a great morning and we took a bottle home.

I see some reviews of the Inn and event rental - I can only speak to their wine tasting, as I stayed elsewhere for our trip.

I kinda love it when the innkeeper sees your car pull up and says "Hey, how's your day." And I kinda love it when the guy who drives the tractors will stop and chat with my farm-boy husband about cover crops. I know (not alot) about red wine, but food??? I know that. And Breakfasts are wonderful. The innkeepers Becky and Pauline have done everything possible to make our stay comfortable. And mornings, when you wake up and it looks like you're living on top of a cloud... beautiful.

Terrible, terrible service by Becky! These people are awful! If you are 20 minutes late to a precise time for breakfast or wine tasting they tell you not very nicely to have a nice day! I wasted $372 per night for this disaster! There are far superior options with far better service!

Two for One!

I visited the winery tasting room this past Saturday for a vertical tasting (2006-2009) of their single vineyard "Jordan" Pinot Noir. This was enlightening as most B&B's are NOT known for producing stellar wines. Youngberg Hill certainly is! I say "Two for One" as visitors can have both great wines and a terrific place to stay in wine country without leaving the Inn!

This was a very nice inn, with gorgeous views of the vineyard and surrounding fields and mountains. The owner and innkeeper were very hospitable. A stay at the inn included a complimentary wine tasting at 4:00. We stayed in a room overlooking the porch where the wine tasting is offered. The drawback to this room with beautiful views is that porch, where people may (and did) congregate after coming back from dinner, making sleeping a little difficult at first (as the windows were open because the AC was not on). The breakfast that they offer is also very good. Just be sure to let them know of any food allergies the night before unlike some other guests who waited until the morning of. (The breakfast menu is posted the night before.) The walls of the inn are a little thin so just be aware of this when making your reservation. And rooms do not have televisions if this is something you like to have to watch the news in the am or fall asleep to at night. Overall it was a beautiful inn, but it did have some drawbacks.

I had my wedding at Youngberg Hill this past weekend and it was amazing! It is secluded, but close enough to town for dining or shopping. The staff was fantastic and the views were breathtaking. We stayed in the Cellar Suite the first two nights and the Martini Suite the evening we were married... I must say, they sure know how to make you feel relaxed and comfortable. I can't wait to visit Youngberg Hill again and I would absolutely recommend this fantastic romantic getaway to anyone. In addition, the owners were super friendly and greeted us every morning for breakfast. Nicolette also helped with all of my arrangements for my special day so I did not have to worry about anything when we arrived. Love, love, love this oasis in the mountains

Another couple and we stayed at the Youngberg for three nights in June. We were not involved in a wedding -- either our's or anyone's close to us. We were there to enjoy the Oregon wine country and we did! The owners and staff were very friendly and flexible. Our room as spacious, well appointed and comfortable. The view is at once breathtaking and relaxing. Expensive, but a good value.

This is no ordinary Bed and Breakfast! The rooms are warm and inviting, clean and cozy! The view is absolutely breathtaking! This is the perfect place to stop by for afternoon wine tasting or for a romantic getaway! As a wedding coordinator, I've had the honor of doing many weddings there over the years. There are few venues with such an amazing view! I highly recommend Youngberg Hill to anyone looking for a peaceful getaway or a breathtaking wedding venue!

I wish I would have read these comments before planning my wedding. Without question the Youngberg is a beautiful place to hold a wedding. Unfortunately the execution of our wedding was disappointing. We used one of the preferred caterers that was offered by Youngberg, Cafe Uncorked. As a couple that love food and wine, the meal was an important part of our wedding. The meal was dissapointing to say the least with the majority of steaks well done. As part of our celebration we discussed consuming Youngberg's wine but bringing our own champagne. Everyone was on the same page until our family dropped off the champagne which ended up in the corner of a storage shed. The day after the staff at Youngberg blamed the Cafe Uncorked for the miscommunication and not serving our champagne. Great view and location, poor execution of food, beverage and service.
